Elderly couple MURDERED

An unidentified person stayed with them at farmhouse in Nagawala on Hunsur Road; Police suspect financial feud

Mysuru, May 14 (RK&KS)- Mystery shrouds the death of an elderly couple, who were found brutally murdered at their farmhouse in Nagawala, near Hunsur Main Road in the taluk this morning.

The deceased are Veerappa (80) and his wife Shivamma (75). The couple leaves behind four daughters and a son.

The elderly couple was running a centring materials business and staying at the farmhouse belonging to them.

It is learnt that one more person, whose identity is not known, had stayed with the couple last night and this morning, the two were found dead in a pool of blood as they were assaulted on their heads with lethal weapons.

It is learnt that Veerappa had sold a piece of his land and had distributed some part of the money among his children and had kept the remaining amount with him.

The miscreants, who have murdered the elderly couple, had ransacked the trunks kept in the house and one trunk was found lying about a kilometre away from the house.

Yelwal Police, who rushed to the farmhouse this morning, summoned fingerprint experts and also pressed the Dog Squad into service. The Police suspect that financial feud may be the reason for the murder.

Yelwal Police, who have registered a case in this regard, are investigating. More details awaited.

Her cent percent confidence helps her get 100 in Maths

Evaluator's bungling in totalling deprives city SSLC student of 30 marks

Mysuru, May 14 (RK&NNN)- The SSLC results announced on Apr.30 had M. Meghana, a student of Sadvidya High School, smiling when it came to the marks in all the five subjects, except the one in Mathematics which made her drop her jaw. After all, she had scored 125/125 in Sanskrit, 98/100 in English, 99/100 in Kannada, 97/100 in Science and 99/100 in Social Studies. But it was in Mathematics that her joy turned to despair when she read 70/100.

A confident Meghana did not lose heart. She told her father V. Mohan, a building contractor and a resident of Vidyaranyapuram, that she was sure that she had not fared as badly as the marks reflected.

Speaking to Star of Mysore here this morning, Meghana said, "I was sure that I had done very well in Mathematics and hence, I convinced my father to apply for the photocopy of the answer sheet. We had to pay Rs.405 as fee. Though the fee is very steep, I still insisted that the totalling must be wrong and I will get more marks if we look at the answer sheet."

M. Meghana

When they saw the answer script and checked the total, it was found that 30 marks which had to be added to the total marks had been omitted.

Pay, promotion, pension

Governments, unjustifiably or otherwise, are being charged with under-performance on various counts. Failure to create jobs in the face of mounting numbers of educated youth year after year has been dominating the many accusations facing the incumbent government at the Centre whose top brass is busy with campaigning during the weeks preceding the polls to elect members of the country's 17th Parliament, beginning its five-year term in June. Nearly, one million youth, a fraction of the total number to be employed in various sectors of the economy coming out of the country's educational institutions, including Universities (nearly 900), institutes of technology (15), polytechnics, industrial training institutes and so on are the target for the administration and private sector establishments to be addressed. The issue of wages, reasonably consistent with the work that goes with the jobs follows like one's shadow. The demand for higher wages is akin to the endless screw, pitching the employer and the employee in eternally opposite camps.

Whether one likes it or not, one accepts it or not, half the number of jobs in the government are only for the all-too-familiar privileged section of the country's population. Voices are being raised to extend this privilege in the country's private sector's organised industrial establishments. Landing a job in either sector shall be overly dependent on the caste factor overriding the competence factor in days ahead. Even as anyone in the hunt for jobs is understandably focussed on the pay to begin with and subsequently on prospects of promotion and post-retirement benefits, particularly pension. The national job scenario is marked by mind-boggling dimensions. India will witness an addition of 11.5 lakh jobs in the first half of 2019-20 itself according to a report from knowledgeable circles. Almost half this number is accounted for organised sector comprising mainly retailing, logistics, Fast Moving Consumer Goods (FMCG) and consumer durables alone. Further, the country's agriculture sector is witnessing all signs of its workforce either stagnating or even suffering attrition.

The section of youth with credentials that facilitates them to cross the bar, their number being a minuscule fraction of the total number needing employment, may be staring at the three issues of pay, promotion and pension, governments can only face the challenge of reining in unemployment marginally. As for the private sector, the benchmark for successful career is unarguably track record of output consistent with wages.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Forty-five minutes of sleep is all that your body needs, if Union Minister and Bharatiya Janata Party candidate from Delhi's Chandni Chowk Constituency, Harsh Vardhan, is to be believed. However, this prescription from the Minister, who is also a doctor, is not without a rider. During a press conference held in the capital recently, he said if one was "able to put one's conscious and sub-conscious mind to sleep through meditation and other practices for a long time... 45 minutes of sleep is sufficient." He was talking about his own schedule during the campaign season — he said he was sleeping for three-four hours only every day. His latest views on sleep patterns may or may not be backed by research but this is not the first time Harsh Vardhan has aired views that challenge conventional wisdom. Last year, he had controversially said that the late Physicist Stephen Hawking had once remarked that the Vedas might have a theory superior to Albert Einstein's iconic equation, $E=mc^2$ but could not attribute the source. — In Business Standard

$2,250 to decipher centuries-old stone message

Paris: A small village in France's Brittany region named Plougastel, is offering a prize of €2,000 ($2,250) to those who can decipher a 230-year-old inscription carved into a nearby rock-slab.

The mysterious rock is located in a cove accessible only at low tide. It features 20 lines of writing as well as carved images of a ship with sails and rudder, and a sacred heart. Some believe that the writing may be in old Breton or Basque, while others think that whoever carved it into the rock slab may have been semi-illiterate.

Linguists and archaeologists are invited to register for the challenge, called "The Champollion Mystery at Plougastel-Daoulas" with the local administration, and they will be sent photos of the inscription. Hundreds of people have already signed up.

Drunk man throws up tumour, scared, swallows it

Beijing: A man was in news recently for reportedly throwing up a tumor after a drinking session, then getting scared and swallowing it back.

The 63-year-old unnamed man from Hunchun County, in China's Hubei Province, had allegedly been feeling discomfort in his throat for some time. However, last week, after having one too many drinks, the man started feeling nauseous. As he was getting ready to throw up, he felt a sharp pain in his lower throat followed by the disturbing presence of a large piece of meat in his mouth. Strangely enough, the fleshy mass seemed to be attached to something, so the drunk man couldn't just cough it out, so he did the next best thing – he chugged a glass of water and swallowed it back. Doctors surgically removed the man's tumor, which was later identified as a fibroma, to prevent any complications.

Affix reflectors at Traffic Island medians

Sir,

Many readers have brought to the notice through these columns about the hazards being posed by the medians having no reflectors at prime traffic junctions. Here is one such classic example which occurred on May 1 at 7.45 pm near Vijayanagar Water Tank, when it was raining (see pic).

Many Traffic Islands in the city having medians are either not painted and affixed with reflectors which are causing hindrance to motorists. Luckily in the present case, though no one was hurt, the car had a considerable damage as it overran the median. Similar is the case near Hinkal flyover junction

It is high time, the Traffic Police concerned, rather than concentrating more on penalising helmetless riders, also take care on these aspects in future and avoid losses, both life and vehicles.

Silt-filled Thavarekere Lake rejuvenated

J.K. Tyre removes 16,700 cubic meters of silt and weeds that had accumulated over the years

Mysuru, May 14- The silt-and-weed-filled Thavarekere Lake at the foothill of Chamundi has got a new lease of life as it has been rejuvenated by J.K. Tyre and Industries Limited, Mysuru, under its Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) activities.

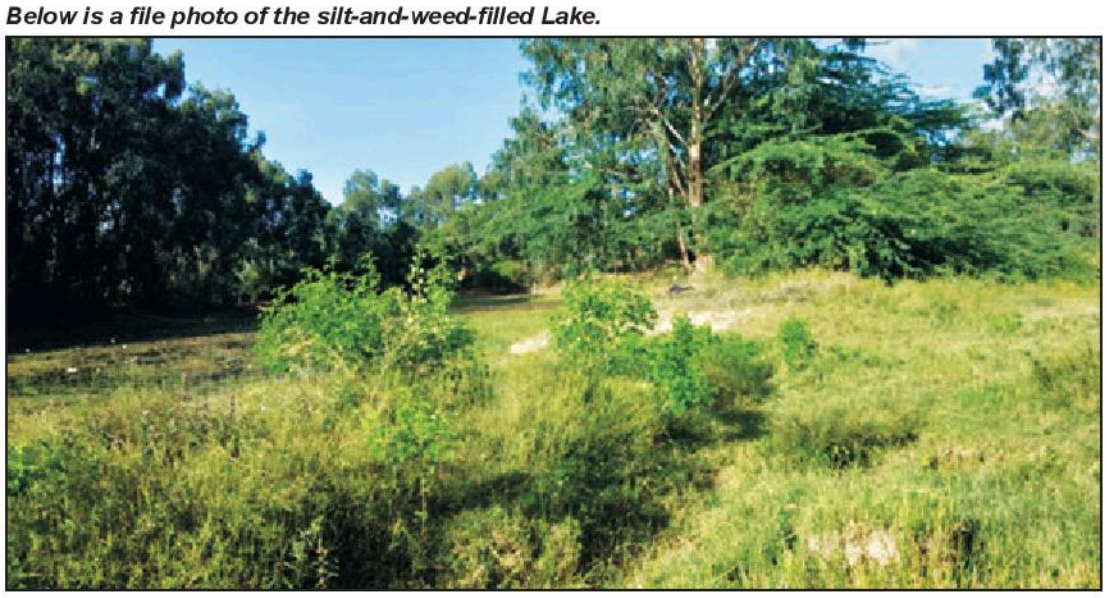
The Company launched the works through MYRADA Kaveri Pradeshika Samsthe (MYKAPS) in September last year and completed the tank rejuvenation works in March this year by removing 16,700 cubic meters of silt that was accumulated in the Lake. The Company also strengthened the tank bund and developed its islands.

Announcing the initiative recently at the Lake premises, Vice-President of J.K. Tyre and Industries Limited (Works Division) Eshwara Rao said that the Company had given top priority for watershed development activities and for rejuvenation of Lakes as part of its CSR activities.

Watershed development activities would help improve groundwater table and also ease drinking water crisis to some extent at a time when several cities are facing drinking water crisis. The Company has also concentrated on promotion of educational activities, conservation of water, sanitation, protection of soil and other issues in the last 20 years under CSR activities, he added.

In his speech, Assistant Director of District Industries Centre (DIC) Nazeer Ahamed said that the Department is also cooperating with all industries and firms to take up works under CSR programmes.

A view of Thavarekere Lake at the foothill of Chamundi which was cleared of silt and weed recently. Below is a file photo of the silt-and-weed-filled Lake.



Speaking on the occasion, J.K. Tyre and Industries General Manager Vikram Hebbar said that company had adopted 10 villages of Hunsur taluk for watershed development works and implemented the works through National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD).

It is also providing grants for installation of tiles for the individual toilets constructed in these adopted villages under Swachh Bharat Abhiyan, he added.

J.K. Tyre Chief Manager (CSR) Anupam Bajpai, Rangaswamy, Nagaraj, Lokesh of MYKAPS, H.S. Shankar, Mahadevaiah, Chamundi Hill Panchayat Development Officer Purnima and others were present.

Drinking water woes come to the fore in MGP meeting

Mysuru, May 14- Drinking water woes in may parts of the city was the main issue at the Mysuru Grahakara Parishat's (MGP) monthly meeting held at the Parishat's office in Yadavagiri on Sunday.

MGP Member Mansoor Ahmed, who was among the first speakers at the meeting, said that Siddique Nagar used to get water from borewell and Vani Vilas Water Works (VVWW) on alternate days. But water supplies from borewell has fallen sharply over the past few days, giving rise to a severe water crisis in the locality, he said and urged the VVWW authorities to address drinking water problem.

Another MGP Member Mahesh asked the authorities to explain water purification process. Alleging that there was no inspection of water purification, he urged the authorities to form a Committee for constant monitoring of water purification process.

MGP Founder-President Bhamy V. Shenoy wanted to know the revenues collected by VVWW every year and the quantity of water it supplies to the city.

Highlighting that water tax payers too are facing a drinking water crisis, in many part of the city, he demanded that the VVWW come up with detailed statistics on water supplies to each locality in the city.

Water woes in Rajendranagar, N.R. Mohalla and other areas too were discussed at the meeting.

VVWW Officer Girish, admitting that there was some problem in drinking water supplies to Siddique Nagar, said that there were plans to supply water to the area under Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT) scheme.

He further said that the water problem in Rajarajeshwari Nagar, which comes under Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) will be brought to the notice of the authorities concerned.

VVWW Officer Channabasavegowda, MGP President Prof. S. Shobana, Members Shrimathi Hariprasad, Renu Agarwal, Narendra, Venkatesh, Prof. Jagannath, Dr. T.N. Manjunath and others were present.

In the way he lived and interacted with others in everyday life, N.R. Madhava Menon was a very ordinary man. His extraordinariness came out when his mind opened up. He pioneered a new approach to law education which at once became the standard across the country. The very name he coined, Law School of India University, was novel. So was the concept. His School University did not just pass on law education to students. As Fali Nariman put it, NR was "transmitting civilisation" to generations. Nariman called him "the lawyers' master."

For a man who exemplified simple living and high thinking, NR exercised remarkable influence on others. The tributes that came from all corners when he died last week were a pointer to the impact he had made in his own quiet way. Finance Minister Arun Jaitley recalled that "I had the privilege of being taught by him." (Strangely ABVP as an organisation uploaded its tribute, too, although NR had seen to it that he remained apolitical all through his life.) The running thread in the tributes was appreciation for his foundational contributions to law education. For 12 years he was the Vice-Chancellor of the National Law School of India University in Bangalore. He then established, at the urging of the Supreme Court, the National Judicial Academy in Bhopal. The West Bengal National University of Juridical Sciences followed.

Ironically he failed to build a similar institute in his home State. He had prepared detailed plans and fellow legal luminary in Delhi, K.K. Venugopal, had helped raise more than two crore rupees (a big sum in 2002). Unfortunately for them, the State's Chief Minister at the time was A.K. Antony whose life's mission was to avoid controversy — and the way to avoid controversy was to avoid taking decisions. India noticed this only when he became Defence Minister and refused to buy even a toy gun. With Antony smilingly avoiding any decision, the Madhav Menon-Venugopal initiative fell by the wayside. What Karnataka and West Bengal and Madhya Pradesh embraced proudly, Kerala discarded foolishly.

But NR's bond with his home State remained strong, built by his devotion to two individuals, his mother and his first law teacher. Poverty lent unusual power to NR's idolisation of his mother. He was not yet three-year-old when his father, a modest official in the municipality, died. With the only source of income gone, it was his mother's willpower that gave NR a chance. Mother would often go without a meal while his sisters would give a portion of their food, mostly tapioca, to NR, the only male in the house. As with all middle class families in Kerala, getting an education was something for which everyone was ready to make sacrifices.

NR got his B.Sc. and B.L. degrees from Kerala, his LLM and Ph.D from Aligarh and then an MA from Punjab University. It was the first law degree that influenced him the most and he used to give grateful credit for it to the Principal of the law college in Kerala, Dr. A.T. Markose, an icon of his time. NR used to say that it was Markose who made him what he became. Markose died young. NR, after becoming famous, and not knowing exactly how to show his gratitude to his teacher, once organised a posthumous award for Markose and presented it to his four daughters who were taken to Delhi for the purpose. For NR, human values were important.

The figure of NR supervising the construction of his first school in Bangalore is fresh in my memory. We were walking around the sprawling expanse of Bangalore University when my guide, the late Kannada Editor Y.N. Krishnamurthy, pointed to a man who was walking towards us, holding an umbrella to protect himself from the sun. When he came close, YNK asked: "You are Madhava Menon, right?" It transpired that NR was returning to his study after the day's inspection of the school buildings' progress.

Many years later, I went to NR's house to ask him to prepare a syllabus for the Asian College of Journalism we had started. We were unfamiliar with academic disciplines, I said, but we wanted a professionally prepared syllabus. NR was reluctant at first, saying he didn't know anything about journalism. But two days later he gave me a notebook in which he had handwritten a detailed course prospectus. The motto NR picked for his school in Bangalore summed up his own philosophy: Dharmo Rakshati Rakshitah. Those who protect Dharma, law, are protected by Law.

Palimar Mutt gets Junior Seer

Shailesh Upadhyaya

Udupi, May 14- Paryaya Udupi Palimar Mutt Seer Sri Vidyadheesha Tirtha Swamiji inducted Sri Vidya Rajeshwara Tirtha Swamiji as his successor at the installation ceremony (Pattabhisheka) held at Sarvajna Peetha of Sri Krishna Mutt premises at 12.20 pm on Sunday. With this, the 31st Seer of Palimar was inducted.

Twenty-year-old Shailesh Upadhyaya (former name of the junior seer) was ordained into Sanyasashrama by Sri Vidyadheesha on Friday at Udupi. Various rituals as part of the Sanyasashrama sweekara, including Vayusthuti Purascharana Homa, were held at the Sri Krishna Temple on Saturday. The junior seer also participated in a spiritual function at Rajangana.

Seated on the Sarvajna Peetha at the Mutt, the Paryaya Seer announced his successor's name as Vidya Rajeshwara Tirtha.

Later, the senior seer took his junior to the sanctum sanctorum of the temple and got him to perform the first puja to Lord Krishna.

Prior to the Pattabhisheka, various rituals, including Tattva Homa, Ashtamahamantra Homa and mass chanting of Mangalashtaka, were conducted. Palimar Mutt Seers later performed "Danda Pranama" to the seers of Ashta Mutts.

At the formal function at Rajangana, Paryaya Mutt Diwan Vedavyasa Tanthri performed "Malike Mangalarathi" to the Seers present. Pejawar Mutt Seers Sri Vishwesha Tirtha Swamiji and Sri Vishwaprasanna Tirtha Swamiji, Krishnapur Mutt Seer Sri Vidyasagar Tirtha Swamiji, Admar Mutt Seers Sri Vishwaprasanna Tirtha Swamiji and Sri Eshapriya Tirtha Swamiji, Kaniyur Mutt Seer Sri Vidyavallabha Tirtha Swamiji, Subrahmanya Mutt Seer Sri Vidyaprasanna Tirtha Swamiji, Sode Mutt Seer Sri Vishwavallabha Tirtha Swamiji and Bheemanakatte Mutt Seer Sri Raghuvarendra Tirtha Swamiji graced the occasion.

Shailesh is the eldest of the two sons of Surendra Upadhyaya, a priest and Lakshmi Upadhyaya, a home-maker. While Shailesh is studying in Yoga Deepika Vedic Residential Institute at Palimar, his brother, Vishwesha Upadhyaya, is pursuing ayurveda course in Manipal. Shailesh did his schooling at Vidyodaya School and SMSP Sanskrit College before joining Yoga Deepika Vedic Residential Institute.

After initiation into the monastic order, he would have to study vedas, vedantas, shastras and religious texts written by the exponent of Dwaita philosophy, Sri Madhwacharya. He would study these texts under the guidance of the Palimar Seer.

Museum-on-Wheels guided tour on May 18: Entries invited

Mysuru, May 14- The Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage will conduct 'Museum-on-Wheels' to mark International Museum Day on May 18. The guided tour will begin at 9 am from Wellington House on Irwin Road in city.

The concept entails taking visitors to a select few Museums to imbibe in them curiosity about the cultural heritage of the country.

According to a press release, the aim of the Department is to help the public appreciate the tangible, intangible and natural heritage and to chip in on their conservation. The Department has chalked out a circuit covering important Museums in city — Indira Gandhi Rashtriya Manav Sangrahalaya on Irwin Road, Archaeological Museum and Gallery of the Department of Archaeology located at the Exhibition Grounds, Regional Museum of Natural History (RMNH) in Siddarthanagar, Wax Museum, Sand Museum, Folklore Museum at Manasagangothri, Rail Museum and culminates at Wellington House.

The guided bus tour is open to the first 50 persons — in the age group of 18 to 35 — who register. The last date for registration is May 16 by 5 pm. They can register their names with Museum Curator Sunil Kumar. For details, call Mob: 78294-04796 or Ph: 0821-2424671, the release said.

Poet Allama Iqbal remembered

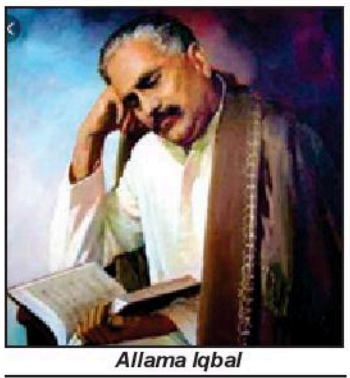
Mysuru, May 14- Famous Urdu and Persian poet-philosopher Allama Iqbal was remembered at 'Youm E Iqbal' that was organised at the MESCO PU College recently by the Dars E Iqbal literary organisation.

The programme started with Qirat by Oais Akhter and a Naat by Urdu poet Syed Ahmed Rahil. Retired KEB Executive Engineer Naseer Ali rendered the 'Kalaam E Iqbal. Urdu poet Gouher Tarikervi, while welcoming the gathering in the jam-packed hall, highlighted the stature of Allama Iqbal in the galaxy of Urdu poets.

Prof. Masood Siraj spoke in detail about Iqbal's high values and the beauty of his poetic descriptions.

Prof. Mohammed Zia Ulla highlighted the depth of Iqbal's philosophical thought and explained the concept of 'Khudi' or 'Self' in his writings.



Allama Iqbal

Moulana Syed Abbas Sajjadi, while paying homage to the great poet, made an emotional appeal to the youth to study the works of the great poet and understand his poetical works for which a basic knowledge of Urdu is required.

He lamented the fading away of this knowledge these days even in those youngsters whose mother-tongue happened to be Urdu.

Prof. B. Sheik Ali, in his presidential address, quoted many verses of Iqbal and explained their meaning. He said that the thoughts expressed by the great poet many decades ago held relevance even to this day.

He expressed happiness that the 'Dars E Iqbal' programme which was started some thirty years ago by some intellectuals had continued all these years as a monthly programme on the third Sunday of every month and wished that it continues over the years to come.

Prof. Riaz Ahmed and Prof. Shabbir Mohammed Mustafa were the chief guests.

Prof. Nyamathulla Khan, who compered, requested the gathering to educate their children in their mother-tongue without which their education and upbringing would be incomplete as everyone should know his or her mother-tongue. Prof. Mohammed Jaffer proposed a vote of thanks.

"Katordaan," a brass vessel from Rajasthan on display at IGRMS

Mysuru, May 14- In continuation of 'Exhibit of the Month' series, the Indira Gandhi Rashtriya Manav Sangrahalaya (IGRMS), National Museum of Mankind, Southern Regional Centre (SRC), has kept on display "Katordaan," a brass vessel from Rajasthan, at its Wellington House on Irwin Road, Mysuru.

The object, unveiled by Dr. B. Francis Kulirani, Tagore Research Scholar, in the presence of J. Vijay Mohan, Officer In-Charge, SRC, Mysuru, will be on display till May end between 10.30 am and 5pm (Monday closed).

Bikaner was a Princely State in the Bikaner region from 1465 to 1947. The founder of the State, Rao Bika was the son of Rao Jodha, ruler of Jodhpur. Rao Bika chose to found his own kingdom instead of inheriting his father's. Bika defeated the Jat clans of Jangladesh and founded his own kingdom. Its capital was the city of Bikaner in the northern area of present day Rajasthan. Bikaner was one of the largest States under the Rajputana Agency.

Katordaan is a round shaped box having lid made out of brass for keeping chapattis and bread from Bikaner area of Rajasthan. The whole box is decorated with floral motifs in the form of engravings. This is popular in Rajasthan and used in all folk community households.

DC Office Complex lying unoccupied even 14 months after inauguration

By S.T. Ravikumar

Mysuru, May 14- The magnificent heritage style multi-crore District Office Complex, which was inaugurated in a great hurry nearly 14 months ago, is lying in a state of disuse.

When Siddharamiah was the Chief Minister, he was keen to have an office complex matching the heritage structures of the city, in his home town, where all the Government Offices are housed under one roof. Hence, the work on this structure began.

As the lease period for the land allotted to the German Press which was under the Central Government had ended, due to the efforts of MP Pratap Simha, the then MLA Vasu and former Deputy Commissioner C. Shikha, the District Administration's Revenue Department was successful in taking back the land in Siddhartha Layout on Bannur Road.

Siddu's dream: About two-and-a-half years ago, the then Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, while chairing the District Progress Review Meeting held at the Regional Commissioner's office on Hunsur Road, had directed the Commissioner to make a plan to construct a full-fledged heritage-type structure with all modern amenities and to bring all the Government Departments in the city under one roof.

He had also directed the Regional Commissioner to find a suitable place, money from the Revenue Department and to entrust the construction of the building to the Karnataka Public Works Department and Ports and Inland Water Transport Department and also stressed that the work should be completed at the earliest.

Later, Siddharmaiah had himself performed the Guddali Puja (ground-breaking ceremony) and also stated that he would only inaugurate the building.

District Minister's interest: Giving wings to Siddharamaiah's plan, the then PWD and District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa had swung into action and got a Rs.59 crore proposal ready from the Department. Then he got the administrative and technical approval for the Detailed Project Report (DPR) and a green signal was given for the construction of the office complex.

Foundation: The construction had been entrusted to Pune-based Shirke Construction Technologies Pvt. Limited after calling for a global tender and on Dec.15, 2016, Siddharamaih himself laid the foundation stone. The massive building, constructed on the lines of Lalitha Mahal Palace hotel in Indo-Saracenic style of architecture, was inaugurated on Mar.10, 2018 by Siddharamaiah again.

The building has a built-up area of 22,920 sq. mts with a basement of 9,150 sq. mts, ground floor of 4,720 sq. mts, first floor of 4,500 sq. mts, second floor of 4,550 sq. mts and parking area in basement. By the time the construction was completed, the cost escalated to Rs.84.66 crore.

Space for 11 Departments: A total of 11 Departments can be accommodated in the new DC Office Complex. While District Registrar's Office, Treasury and Muzrai Offices will be located on the ground floor, the Deputy Commissioner's (DC) Office will be on the first floor. Offices of Backward and Minorities Welfare Department, Mines and Geology, Department of Legal Metrology, Fisheries and Excise Departments and Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Development Corporation will be located on the second floor. The building also has two lifts that can hold 12 people at a time and a capsule-type glass lift that have been installed. Since the last 14 months these lifts are lying unused.

Complex unoccupied: The DC Office Complex built at a total cost of Rs.84.66 crore where the eleven Departments will be housed under one roof is still unoccupied — 14 months after the inauguration. As a result, the whole place is dirty with wild grass growing all around and birds building nests.

Second stage of work: Even though the first stage of work is completed, the new building complex is lying unoccupied. The PWD has prepared an estimation of Rs.38 crore for the second phase of development and sent it to the Government.

If this phase is completed, then the remaining 17 district-level offices of various Departments can be shifted here. Former PWD Superintending Engineer Sathyanarayan, Building Division Executive Engineer Ramachandra, Assistant Executive Engineer Ramakrishna, Assistant Engineers S.V. Bhaskar, Vasu and others were involved in the supervision of building construction.

Shifting to begin in June

The shifting of various Departments to the new District Office Complex will begin in the first week of June, said Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar.

"Though the new building was inaugurated 14 months ago, we did not have the required infrastructure and also the partition was not done. In a few offices, the furniture and computer facilities had not been installed. As we were not yet able to provide basic facilities, the shifting has been delayed. I had visited the complex once and suggested a few changes. In the meantime, the Model Code of Conduct kicked off and hence, I was not able to devote my time and attention. Once the election-related work is over, then the offices will be shifted in stages from the first week of June," he said. The decision to shift the offices will be taken after holding a meeting with the District Minister and people's reps, he added.

Cent percent in Maths

True to the belief of Meghana, whose favourite subject is Mathematics, she had scored 100/100 when they totalled the marks.

The very next day, Mohan visited the Karnataka Secondary Education Examination Board Office in Malleswaram, Bengaluru and applied for re-totalling. Her total marks went up from 588 out 625 to 618/625 and now she stands third in her school because of the revised total.

Asked what her future plans were, Meghana said that she is planning to study PCMB (Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics, Biology) in PUC and aims to do Aeronautical Engineering later.

Hoax bomb scare: Drunken man sends cops into tizzy

The man identified as Gangadhar, in his 40s, has been detained by Devaraja Police for allegedly raising the false alarm.

The man raised the false alarm when a few public attempted to wake him near South Gate of the Palace at around 9.30 am. Tourists, who had arrived in large numbers to the Palace, panicked for some time.

Devaraja Police, who swung into action, took the drunken man into custody and during interrogation, he confessed that he had raised the false alarm in an inebriated state.

It may be recalled that City Police had conducted a meeting with Heads of various religious heads, hotel owners, department officials and managers of commercial establishments to take extra precautions and alert the Police on finding something suspicious in the wake of Sri Lanka bomb blasts.

Police are on high alert at KRS, Mysore Palace, Bus Stand, Railway Station, Churches and other places.

Thontadarya is an ideal politician: D.H. Shankaramurthy

Mysuru, May 14 (PM&DM)- Former MLC Thontadarya is an ideal politician for current generation of political leaders and is among the rare breed of politicians who never aspired for any position, said senior BJP leader and former Legislative Council Chairman D.H. Shankaramurthy.

He was speaking after inaugurating the felicitation programme in honour of Thontadarya organised by the Felicitation Committee at Saptapadi Kalyana Mantapa on Kannada Sahitya Parishat Road, Vijayanagar 1st Stage here this morning.

Lauding the Felicitation Committee for organising the programme in recognition of the ex-MLC's decades of service to society, Shankaramurthy recalled Thontadarya's fight against Emergency as a social activist in his younger days.

Observing that Thontadarya was one amongst the outstanding politicians who took up the cause of society, he said that leaders like Thontadarya are an inspiration for the younger generation.

Senior RSS leader S. Ramanna delivered the felicitation address.

Thontadarya and his wife Dr. Kamalakumari were felicitated by the dignitaries.

Kundur Mutt Seer Sri Sharathchandra Swamiji released America-settled Kannada writer Guru S. Bale's translated works titled Shaktivishishtadwaita and Panchapeethagala Parampare on the occasion.

Suttur Mutt Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji, Vijayapura Jnanayogashrama Seer Siddeshwara Swamiji and Hosamutt Seer Chidananda Swamiji graced the event.

Akhila Bharatha Sharana Sahitya Parishat Hon. Advisor G.R. Channabasappa presided. MLA S.A. Ramdas, former MLCs Prof. K.R. Mallikarjunappa and G. Madhusudhan, Felicitation Committee President G.R. Parameshwarappa, Author Guru S. Bale, ORI Director Prof. S. Shivarajappa, Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya and others were present.

Intelligence reports cannot always be a success: Former DGP

Former DGP D.V. Guruprasad addressing press persons during the interaction session at Patrakarthara Bhavan this morning as (from left) journalist Kudli Gururaj, MDJA President C.K. Mahendra and former ACP J.B. Rangaswamy look on.

Mysuru, May 14(MTY&DM)- Maintaining that intelligence reports cannot be a full success always, former DGP D.V. Guruprasad said that the State Intelligence Wing will report to the Government in times of crisis and other emergencies.

He was speaking at an interaction session on his work titled Goodhacharyeya Aa Dinagalu organised by the Mysuru District Journalists Association (MDJA) at its premises this morning.

Stating that he was the Intelligence Chief when Dharam Singh headed the Congress-JD(S) Coalition Government 15 years ago, Guruprasad said that coalition government has returned now with H.D. Kumaraswamy heading the JD(S)-Congress Coalition Government.

Observing that lack of knowledge in History will lead to administrative problems, especially in running coalition government, Guruprasad said that he has shared his experience as the Intelligence Chief in his book.

Pointing out that lessons can be drawn from the book on past incidents and crises, the former DGP reiterated that his work can be treated as a handbook on learning from past mistakes, both administrative and political.

Recalling that many painful things took place when S.M. Krishna became the Chief Minister, he said that incidents such as continuous drought, kidnapping of Dr. Rajkumar and killing of former Minister Nagappa by forest brigand Veerappan and such other unsavoury incidents brought a bad name to the State Government.

Highlighting the role of intelligence inputs in the making of political decisions, Guruprasad citing an example said that the State Intelligence had warned the then CM S.M. Krishna of holding the State Assembly elections along with Lok Sabha polls in 2004 as the situation then was unfavourable to the Congress government. The State Intelligence had also told the same to the then State Congress incharge Vilas Rao Deshmukh, when he sought intelligence inputs on the prospects of the Congress returning to power in 2004. But S.M. Krishna went ahead on his decision to call the State Assembly polls along with the LS polls in 2004, when the Assembly tenure was still 6 months left. S.M. Krishna's decision to advance Assembly polls was a severe set back for him as the Congress lost.

Highlighting the challenges of running a coalition government as he learned from being the Intelligence Chief, Guruprasad claimed that transfer issued posed a big problem in Dharam Singh's coalition government and postings to key posts virtually became a musical chair.

Noting that although Dharam Singh was lucky as there was copious rainfall after he took over and elusive forest brigand Veerappan was shot dead, the former DGP said that CM's post for Dharam Singh was not a bed of roses as he faced several challenges such as CET and killing of Policemen at Pavagada as a retaliation to the encounter of naxal leader Saketh Rajan.

Stating that the recent Pulwama attack, Church and hotel blasts in Sri Lanka, Mosque attack in New Zealand, WTO Twin Tower bombings in New York can be cited to intelligence failures, Guruprasad stressed on the need for the Governments to gather vital intelligence inputs in these days when terrorism and such destructive acts are on the rise.

Clearing Roadblocks

Many a times, our dreams, aspirations and desires face sudden roadblocks and things which have been sure of happening seem to remain a mirage. At times, such obstacles could be due to the individual zodiac luck not favourable or could be the cause and effect of the place of dwelling and immediate environment.

To understand the cause and effect of the surrounding, it calls for a Feng Shui "eye" and the key to creating the energy that bring good luck is in knowing what needs to be fixed. Although this sounds simple enough, tracking down the root of an inauspicious element or placement can take experience and at times luck too. A place generating bad energy or filled with negative energy could cause immense obstacles and trouble to the occupants. These unfavourable vibrations can accumulate practically anywhere in your home, in furniture, carpets and even in the air. However, one can get rid of these negative vibes quiet easily by working with the four elements.

However, to activate good energy, it primarily calls for cleansing of the space. Space cleansing can begin with de-cluttering and giving away unwanted things. Along with this, using sea salt dissolved in water and mopping the floors will help taking away stagnation and predecessor Chi. Once the place has been cleansed, we can adapt the natures four elements to bring in balance and serenity.

• Air can be used to cleanse space. This can be done by opening up doors and windows for long hours. Along with air, chanting prayers or bells can be used to carry sound energy and air deeper into the place.

• Earth energy can be used to ground unpleasant vibes. The earth has also given us an abundance of crystals to use for this purpose. Amethyst, clear quartz, black obsidian, citrine and carnelian are just a few that can transmute and repel negative energy. Place them in the corners of your house or near the entrance to ward off those bad vibes. Sea salt in porcelain bowls placed in the corners of the house and changed regularly can absorb bad vibes.

> Fire energy is very powerful in bringing in new opportunities and burning out obstacles. It has also been a powerful tool for purification. Hence, using it in your home is as simple as lighting a candle. You could use it along with prayers, music or chanting with appositive intention and focus to clear the negativity from your house.

• Fire energy is very powerful in bringing in new opportunities and burning out obstacles. It has also been a powerful tool for purification. Hence, using it in your home is as simple as lighting a candle. You could use it along with prayers, music or chanting with appositive intention and focus to clear the negativity from your house. Walking to all the corners and rooms of the house with the candle lit and prayer chanting is a deep cleanser.

• Water is the universal solvent which can dissolve negative energy. Take pure water in a mug and leave it in early morning sunshine for few hours and to it add basil leaves, flower essence or essential oils. Next hold the mug in your left hand, place your right hand over the mouth of the mug and infuse it with your positive intentions, prayers or chanting and finally sprinkle or spray it in your home corners, carpets etc.

F1 car sent to cancer-stricken boy who inspired Lewis Hamilton

Surrey, May 14- A Formula One (F1) car has been sent to the home of the cancer-stricken boy who inspired Lewis Hamilton's Spanish Grand Prix triumph.

Lewis Hamilton dedicated his win in Barcelona to Harry Shaw, a five-year-old from Surrey, who is set to lose his battle against a rare bone disease.

Lewis Hamilton's Mercedes team then arranged for one of their F1 cars to park outside Harry's home in Redhill on Monday. The youngster, cradled in his father James' arms, was then shown around Lewis Hamilton's car by a Mercedes employee.

Given the acceleration of his illness, it marked the first time he had been outdoors in three weeks.

Harry was presented with Hamilton's winning trophy from the race in Barcelona, and a pair of the world champion's racing gloves. Lewis Hamilton also recorded a video message of support for him to watch.

"I cannot describe how much it means to us all that Lewis won the race for Harry, and then dedicated it to Harry, too," his father James Shaw said.

"At a tremendously difficult time in our lives, this has provided us with a big boost, and a big smile. Harry couldn't believe that Lewis Hamilton was talking about him, and had dedicated the race to him. He now thinks that Lewis is his absolute best friend, which, for a five-year-old boy, is amazing.

"Harry loves cars, and although he is frail, he was asking about the exhaust pipe. Mercedes have taken us to a much-better place in a dark time," he added.

Harry Shaw, cradled in his father James' arms, poses with Lewis Hamilton's car parked outside their house in Redhill on Monday.

Mercedes driver Lewis Hamilton of Britain celebrates on the podium after winning the Spanish Formula One race at the Barcelona Catalunya racetrack in Montmelo, just outside Barcelona, Spain, Sunday, May 12, 2019.

'Theatre artistes deserve more encouragement'

Elders Citizens Council hosts Theatre Songs prog.

Mysuru, May 14- The Elders Citizens Council, Jayalakshmipuram, recently arranged a Theatre Songs (Ranga Geetegalu) programme by Rathnakara of Bengaluru and Govinde Gowda troupe from Mysuru.

The programme comprised singing of old theatre songs and delivering dialogues from historical dramas like 'Mahabharata' and 'Ramayana.'

The prominent participants included the octogenarian, Kukwa Venkatarama, Govinde Gowda, Mruthyunjaya and others, who voiced the old theatre songs with their melodious voice at a high pitch even at the ripe age of 80 to 90 years and immersed the audience with interest and pleasure.

Another artiste Kiragasur Rajappa, with his mastery over harmonium music, along with singing of melodious songs and clarinet and tabla by D. Ramu and Jayaram, was very pleasant to ears.

Apart from the music, the dialogue presentation in the epic and historical dramas including Bhakta Prahallada, Rajasooya Yagam and many ancient theatre dramas by artistes like Govinde Gowda, Kukwa, who is a retired Commercial Tax Department employee and others drew much applause from the audience.

Krishne Gowda, Chairman of the Elders Citizens Council, welcoming the artistes to the programme, said that this was the first time the Council is holding such a nice programme and lauded their rich musical talent in theatre songs as also in presenting the drama dialogues even as senior citizens and appealed to the people in large to give more opportunities to such theatre artistes with a view to encourage the younger generation also to take up the art to much higher levels in future.

A mimicry programme presented by Vijayakumar was also entertaining.

Venkateshaiah, Secretary, proposed a vote of thanks. S.V. Gowdappa, Chairman of the Building Trust, V.N. Achar, Treasurer and Committee Members K.V. Ramanath, Ramanna, Nagaraj, Latha and others were present. More than 200 members witnessed the event.

This unique Opera performance became very famous throughout Tibet. Tibetans in Tibet and in exile have been striving hard to retain and further enrich the unique Opera culture.

To Demolish or Restore...

DC awaiting Government nod

on Devaraja Market & Lansdowne building

Mysuru, May 14 (RK&NNN)- The decision to restore or demolish the nearly 120-year-old heritage structures — Devaraja Market and Lansdowne building — in the heart of the city will take a lot more time, going by the views of the Mysuru Deputy Commissioner.

However, more than anything it is the sentiments of the people of the city of Mysuru that are involved, as both the buildings are landmark ones, which any citizen is proud to be a part of. Hence many people feel that the buildings must be preserved as demolishing and rebuilding them will never match the original structures.

Speaking to Star of Mysore here yesterday, Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar said that he had sent the conflicting reports of both the Government of Karnataka Task Force For Quality Assurance in Public Constructions and Heritage Improvements and Restoration Committee (HIRC) to the State Government. While the former is for demolition and building new structures resembling the old heritage style, the latter report states that both the buildings must be preserved at any cost without being demolished.

CM to decide

Both the reports were sent to the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC)and the Corporation Commissioner in turn had sent it to the Deputy Commissioner. "Since this is a very important issue which also involves the sentiments of the people of Mysuru, the reports have been sent to the Government and the Cabinet with Chief Minister heading it will have to take a decision on this," he said.

"As the Model Code of Conduct is in force, a decision will be taken after the election results are declared. It will be based on the Government's stand, but all the stakeholders including the MCC, District Administration, the experts, the tenants of both the buildings will all have to be taken into confidence and only then a final decision arrived at," he said.

Background

Government of Karnataka Task Force headed by Chairman Prof. B.R. Sreenivasa Murthy and consisting of Prof. R. Jagadish, C.N. Babu (now late) and Prof. Syed Shakeeb ur Rahaman, came out with a report after a complete study of the issues regarding Devaraja Market and claimed that even the HIRC had given the approval for the proposed construction of a multi-storied market complex with at least one basement floor exclusively for parking, keeping the original heritage features.

However, Dr. N.S. Rangaraju, a member of HIRC, had clearly said stated that the members of his Committee were completely unaware of their approval for the dismantling of the heritage structure. He had also categorically said that they were never invited to inspect the Market and hence the question of them recommending anything did not arise at all.

Meanwhile, the then District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa had also made a visit to both the places. Then when the H.D. Kumaraswamy government took over last year, he also visited the Devaraja Market and made it amply clear that a spot decision cannot be taken on such an important issue as there were conflicting reports from the experts.

Even the District Minister G.T. Devegowda, who also visited the spot, in a veiled way going by the sentiments of the people expressed his support for retaining the heritage structures.

Tenants oppose demolition

The Devaraja Market Tenants Association as also the Lansdowne Building Tenants Association members are fighting hard to retain the heritage structures and opposing strongly the demolition of the structures as proposed by the Task Force.

History of stalled restoration work

The cost of restoration of the nearly 130-year-old Devaraja Market constructed in 1886 on a 3.67 acre of land was estimated at Rs.9 crore and it was being taken up under the Chief Minister's special grant of Rs.100 crore for the development of heritage structures and Circles.

The contractor who was assigned the task was Sri Savani Constructions Private Limited. The third party consultant was Indian Heritage Cities Network Foundations. The restoration work of Devaraja Market had begun but came to a grinding halt because of the collapse of the north portion entrance of the Market on Aug.28, 2016.

Lansdowne building was constructed in 1892 to commemorate the visit of the British Viceroy Lansdowne and his wife to Mysore, by the ruler Sri Chamarajendra Wadiyar. The total area of building is 16,092 sq.ft and it has 54 shops on the ground floor and 42 in the first floor.

This work was also taken up by Sri Savani Constructions Private Limited at a cost of Rs.3 crore and the bill paid to them for a part of the work done was Rs.94,59,518. The reason for the work to be taken up was because the south portion of Lansdowne building had collapsed on Aug.25, 2012 due to continuous rain for three to four days in which four people had died.

Job-seekers to protest overnight

Mysuru, May 14 (PM&SR)- Accusing the management of Asian Paints Limited in Himmavu Industrial Area of Nanjangud taluk of failing to provide jobs to locals and children of land-losers, members of Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha, led by its District Unit President C. Ramegowda Vidyasagar, has decided to stage overnight indefinite strike outside the company from May 15.

Speaking to reporters at Pathrakartara Bhavan here yesterday, Ramegowda Vidyasagar alleged that company had promised to provide jobs to locals and to children of the farmers who provided land to set up this factory, but the management of the firm is recruiting outsiders in large numbers and denying jobs to locals.

"Though the then Chief Minister Siddharamaiah conducted the meeting with District Administration, Management of the factory in 2017 and issued directions to provide jobs to localities, the Management failed to follow the orders of the Government. Likewise, many other industries are coming up in Tandya, Ankanahalli and Himmavau village in Varuna Assembly segment, but Management of these firms are denying jobs to localites," he complained.

He said that State Government acquired the land from farmers to set up industries after promising them to provide jobs, generating employment and boosting economic activities in the region and also provide land, water, power and other facilities to these industrialists, but many factories failed to provide jobs to localites. Though the Government not ready to ease drinking water in the region, but it is supplying bulk water for these industries," he charged.

He demanded the Management of the industries to provide permanent jobs to localites instead of appointing them on contract basis.

KRRS District Gen. Secretary Himmavu Raghu and Himmavu GP President Maheshprasad were present at the press meet.

World Hand Hygiene Day programme tomorrow

Mysuru, May 14 (PM&SR)- JSS Hospital, in association with Schulke India Pvt. Limited Company, has organised World Hand Hygiene Day public awareness programme tomorrow (May 15) in the premises of the Hospital.

Speaking to reporters at Pathrakartara Bhavan in city yesterday, JSS Hospital Medical Superintendent Dr. Guruswamy said that patients, general public, teaching and non-teaching, medical staff and other visitors of the Hospital will be sensitised on various issues of maintenance of health, hygiene, sanitation, importance of hand-washing to avoid many diseases by distributing handbills, holding lecture from 10 am to 5 pm on this day.

Train services on Mysuru-Bengaluru route disrupted for an hour

Mandya, May 14 (Nagaiah& DM)- Train services on Mysuru-Bengaluru route was disrupted for more than an hour yesterday as an overhead electric cable snapped and fell on the railway track on Maddur-Channapatna section. The cable is said to have snapped due to strong winds and rains. Due to the snapping of the power cable, trains running between Bengaluru and Mysuru last evening halted at different Stations on the route.

The Chamundi Express reached Mysuru an hour late last night, causing a lot of inconvenience to passengers.

Several other trains running to and from Mysuru too were delayed, it is learnt.

WORD OF THE DAY

Stratagem

Pronunciation: STRAT-uh-jum
Meaning: An artifice or trick in war for deceiving and outwitting the enemy; a cleverly contrived trick or scheme for gaining an end.
Origin: A stratagem is any clever scheme—sometimes one that's part of an overall strategy (that is, a carefully worked out plan of action). The word stratagem entered English in the 15th century and was originally used in reference to some artifice, such as a military plan or manoeuver, which was designed to deceive or outwit the enemy. This military sense can be traced back to the word's Greek ancestor stratēgēma, which is itself based on stratēgein, meaning "to act as a general." Stratēgein, in turn, comes from stratēgos (meaning "general"), which comes from stratos ("camp" or "army") and agein ("to lead"). Stratēgos is an ancestor of strategy as well.
Example: Perpetrators always have at their disposal a set of self-exculpatory stratagems that they can use to reframe their actions as provoked, justified, involuntary, or inconsequential." — Steven Pinker, The Better Angels of Our Nature, 2011

THE ODD WORD

Struthious

Having to do with or resembling an ostrich.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

As safe as houses

Meaning: Completely safe and secure.
Origin: It is commonly accepted that the Victorian expression 'as safe as houses' means 'secure; with no risk of failure'. It shares that meaning with 'as safe as the Bank of England' — the origin of this latter phrase slightly pre-dating the 'houses' version, being known in print from at least 1818. The first example of 'as safe as houses' in print is in the rather over the top melodrama Timour the Tartar, which was staged in London in various versions from around 1842 onwards. The 1850 version contains this strangled doggerel:
Come, sacrifice your son and do what's right.
No - I don't seem to see it in that light.
Well then, I'll give my word that Timour's life
Shall be safe as houses. For a wife
Whom Timour's sword made widow lone and sad,
I think my offer by no means bad.
It has been speculated, in fact it is widely believed, that 'as safe as houses' referred to the relative security of investing in housing as compared to risky railway shares, which had recently bankrupted many people in the Railway Mania bubble of the 1840s. That is unlikely to be the source of the phrase. When 'as safe as houses' was coined the word 'safe' was often used to mean 'certainly; undoubtedly'. All of the earliest printed uses of the phrase make that meaning clear.

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
